Man takes first steps on the Moon

American Neil Armstrong has become the first man to walk on the Moon. The astronaut stepped onto the Moon's surface, in the Sea of Tranquillity, at 0256 (0256) GMT on Saturday morning. The moon landing was the highlight of the flight. Armstrong had earlier reported the human race's safe landing at 0217 GMT with the words: "Houston, Tranquillity Base here. The Eagle has landed." At his first words on the moon, Armstrong declared: "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind." He described the surface as being like powdered charcoal and the landing craft left a crater 10 feet across. "We came in peace" The first moments were captured on television cameras installed on the Eagle and turned on by Armstrong. Armstrong spent his first few minutes on the Moon taking photographs and soil samples. The Eagle's descent had to be aborted suddenly. He was joined by colleague Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin at 0315 GMT and the two collected data and performed various exercises - including jumping across the landscape - before planting the Stars and Stripes flag at 0341 GMT.

In 1971, extremely brief, tight-fitting shorts, called hot pants, were a fashion craze for girls and young women. Throughout the period, trousers with extremely tight, almost transparent, leg bottoms, were very tight and revealing from the lower thighs up.
